

HOME-MADE WILLS, THE PITFALLS

Consider the following:-

The testator of a modest estate uses a Will pack and writes his own Will. What could be simpler than giving it all to his wife and then his children?

The case goes to Court as the children claim he was just giving a life interest to the wife and she must preserve the assets until her death and the wife claims the estate was given to her with no restrictions as to what she did with it. The absence of a few crucial words causes all the consequential problems.
